
A useful monitor must be evaluated jointly: separability alone does not establish preserved behavior or service.